

Know the Risk - Raise Your Shield: Spear Phishing

Office of the Director of National Intelligence

Subscribe

16,088

+ Add to Share More

38 0

Share Embed Email

https://youtu.be/X5P-VYxPNrk

Start at: 0:08

Published on Sep 8, 2015

Phishing scams trick you into providing your confidential information, which is then used to access your accounts. Typically this kind of fraud involves an email, text message, or pop-up window claiming to come from an official source.

SHOW MORE

COMMENTS • 2

Add a public comment...

Top comments

the oncoming storm 7 months ago (edited) sad that people are still stupid enough to indiscriminately click on email links. i always check the url of the source of both the message and the link before i even make any attempt at clicking on it. some i never even look at twice before the email gets trashed. props to you all for producing this!

Up next

Autoplay

GAME OF PAWNS - The Glen Duffie Shriver Story
Office of the Director of National Intelligence
17,585 views

The Company Man: Protecting America's Secrets
Office of the Director of National Intelligence
7,264 views

Know the Risk - Raise Your Shield: Social Media Deception
Office of the Director of National Intelligence
6,890 views

Your Personal Information: Protecting it from Exploitation
Office of the Director of National Intelligence
15,801 views

Protecting Your Personal Information
Office of the Director of National Intelligence

Let's design social media that drives real change | Wael Ghonim TED Recommended for you

How To Create Facebook Phishing Page 2016
Maneer Alam
7,400 views

facebook phishing tutorial (simple and easy)
Hydra hacker
21,260 views

Introduction to Phishing Email Hacking Attacks
Eli the Computer Guy
73,129 views